Vietminh Tighten Pincers

French Repel Attack By 3,000 Communists Other Rebel Forces Surge Toward Hanoi

HANOI, Indochina (AP)—Vietminh legions tightened their pincers on Hanoi today but the war capital's French defenders claimed they had beat back an attack by 3,000 rebels only 20 miles from the city and killed at least 300 of the Communist-led force.

The French admitted their own losses were "appreciable" but gave no figures.

Other rebel units surged in from the northeast and northwest to strike at French outposts 25 miles above the imperiled city.

Clashes were reported yesterday at scores of points as the Vietminh kept up their pressure.

So busy were the French trying to hold their shrunken Red River delta defenses that they were unable to spare planes for more than token harassment of the long truck convoys rumbling south from the Red China frontier.

French reconnaissance pilots report that Red China is funneling more supplies into northern Indochina than she did in the days before the fall of the French bastion of Dien Bien Phu.

But a French briefing officer declared, "We do not have the planes to spare for more than harassment attacks against the Red supply convoys."

"It is more important now," he said, "that we bomb Vietminh guerrilla bases inside the delta."

Yesterday French warplanes rained nearly 150 tons of bombs on rebel bases inside the delta defenses, some of them less than 20 miles from Hanoi.

More than 100 bombers pounded a string of Vietminh bases which threatened to cut off Hung Yen, cornerstone of the delta defenses 25 miles southeast of Hanoi. Several rebel-held villages were set afire.

North of Hanoi the French were more successful. They managed to reopen roads between Sept Pagodes, Phu Lang Thung and Bao Ninh, 30 miles from the city. This restored communications between the three towns, which form a protective triangle against Vietminh regulars massing to the north.

French officials, meanwhile sought to allay fears voiced by U.S. congressmen that American-supplied arms might fall into Communist hands should there be a last-minute pullback from Hanoi.

A spokesman for the French Union commander, Gen. Paul Ely, said only 10 per cent of the guns, tanks and planes still being poured into this war-torn land are being stored in northern Indochina. And these depots are located in the port of Haiphong on the China Sea so their removal by ship should be comparatively easy from the city.

It was also pointed out that newly arriving American supply ships are being diverted from Haiphong more than 700 miles south to Saigon.

Court Is Silent On Rumor Elizabeth Expects Third Child

LONDON (AP)—Buckingham Palace maintained its customary silence today on a New York newspaper report Queen Elizabeth II is expecting her third child. Court sources said so far as they know, the report is unfounded.

The sources commented the Queen has not canceled future engagements. Such cancellations would be an almost sure sign the monarch is expecting.

British newspapers said scant attention to the report in the New York Daily News.

The Daily News in a copyrighted story from London last night quoted "Buckingham Palace sources" as saying Elizabeth is expecting early next year. The news added that "only last week two additional doctors were appointed to the palace staff."

Merwin Hudson Dies When His Tractor Is Struck by Car

Merwin Hudson, 66, farmer residing on route 5, Warrensburg, was killed at 10:13 p. m. Saturday when a tractor he was driving south on Highway 13, five miles south of Warrensburg, was struck by a 1954 Pontiac car driven by Anthony Torrelli, 21, Sedalia Air Force Base. Torrelli was arrested but no charge had been filed against him up to late Monday afternoon.

In the Pontiac with Torrelli was Maurice Alderman, also of the Air Base, whose head was lacerated, necessitating treatment at the Warrensburg Medical Center.

Hudson was superintendent of schools at Knob Noster for six years during the 1930's. He was well-known in that community. He is survived by his wife and a daughter.

Funeral services were held at 2:30 p. m. Monday at the Methodist Church in Warrensburg, the Rev. Robert N. Arbaugh, pastor, officiating.

Burial was in Sunset Cemetery, Warrensburg.

Chou En-Lai Has Returned To Geneva

Flies In Few Hours After Eden Joins French Premier

GENEVA (AP)—Chou En-Lai returned to Geneva today for a fresh round of bargaining on Indochina. He flew in a few hours after British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden joined French Premier Pierre Mendes-France in a last effort to make peace with the Communists over the revolt-torn Southeast Asian land.

The Red Chinese premier was greeted by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov as he stepped from the Russian air force plane that brought him here from Moscow. Chou was all smiles, a startling change from the cold and reserved manner he displayed on his first arrival here last April.

In a statement, he said peace could be achieved "with a conciliatory spirit for seeking peace on the part of all sides concerned."

Eden also arrived by plane today for the crucial Indochina meetings coming up.

First on Eden's schedule after the lunch was a meeting with Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov. The two ministers, who are co-chairmen of the Indochina conference, will have to set the time of the next meeting.

Molotov arrived last week. The conference will first discuss the reports of the military commissions. These groups were ordered three weeks ago to submit by July 10 recommendations on military aspects of an armistice.

It appeared there was no clear agreement on these questions, however.

The negotiations over Viet Nam were most of the fighting has occurred and where the Vietminh is demanding the greatest concessions, have been held in deep secrecy. The report, or reports, on these talks undoubtedly will show just what the Communists are asking for peace in Indochina.

Mendes-France scheduled another meeting today with Pham Van Dong, the Vietminh foreign minister. The French leader entered the crucial week of the conference uncertain of full U. S. backing.

Two American envoys told the French leader yesterday that Secretary of State Dulles would not back the French by returning to Geneva himself unless he saw signs that the Communists were ready to negotiate in good faith.

Four Cars Derailed On Freight Train

PERRYVILLE (AP)—Four cars near the center of a 97-car Frisco freight train were derailed today at nearby Wittenberg, temporarily blocking traffic over the railroad's main line.

One of the cars struck a storage building between two occupied houses. No one was injured.

Cause of the accident was not immediately established. Railroad ties were cut for a distance of about a quarter of a mile in the derailment. Damage was estimated at about $2,300.

A northbound Frisco passenger train, the Memphisian, was rerouted through Illinois. Buses were used to transport passengers and mail around the blocked section of track on two later trains.

More A-Plant Strikes

AFL Wildcat Walkout Leaves 8,000 Idle; Union Leaders Call Latest Move Illegal

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (AP)—A wildcat walkout by members of AFL Laborers' Local 818 halted work today on two vast atomic plant construction projects.

More than 8,000 AFL construction workers were idled by the walkout which union leaders described as illegal.

An Atomic Energy Commission spokesman said the strike had no immediate effect on AFL and CIO production workers at the three atomic energy plants here.

The shutdown of the two construction projects was brought about by refusal of AFL building craftsmen to cross the laborers' picket lines.

W. H. Wardrop, business agent of Local 818, said "the pickets are unauthorized and use of the union's name on any picket signs is illegal."

The laborers' present hourly scale is $1.40 but Wardrop declined to say what increase the union is seeking.

The laborers tentatively had rejected new wage proposals offered by the Knoxville chapter of Associated General Contractors. However, Wardrop said a meeting was scheduled today "whether to ratify or disapprove the wage scale proposal."

Six other AFL unions affiliated with the Knoxville Building Trades Council reached agreement with AGC Saturday. They accepted increases reportedly ranging from 5 to 10 cents an hour.

Meanwhile, CIO chemical workers, who struck three days last week to back up demands for a wage increase were reported back on the job in normal force.

Aubrey E. Galyon, business agent of the Building Trades Council, blamed the wildcat strike on "internal trouble" within the laborers' local.

Carnegie Corp. Defends All Its Programs

President Attacks Impressions Left By Probe Witnesses

NEW YORK (AP)—The Carnegie Corp. says witnesses in a congressional investigation have attacked several tax-exempt foundations "through a shocking combination of innuendo and implication."

In a statement sent to the special House committee to investigate tax-exempt foundations, Corporation President Charles Dillard said yesterday:

"The question has been raised in these hearings as to whether foundations have supported these American projects and, through a shocking combination of innuendo and implication, the impression has been left that perhaps they have failed in this respect."

"As far as the Carnegie Corp. is concerned," he said, "there can be only one answer to such a question. The corporation regards its entire program as 'pro-American.'"

"It is the whole purpose of the corporation trustees and officers to work in behalf of their country, to strengthen it and to ensure its future."

An attorney for the multimillion-dollar foundation also took the committee to task for ending the hearings before spokesmen for the foundations had a chance to testify, even though the foundation critics were heard at length "and with full publicity."

Atty. John E. F. Wood said, "I doubt that any other congressional inquiry ever followed a procedure so alien to American standards of justice and so obviously unfair and prejudicial to a group of respected persons and institutions."

The committee chairman, Rep. B. Carroll Reece (R-Tenn.), could not be reached in Washington for comment.

TRUCE TALKS "NOT BINDING" ON VIET NAM—French, Viet Namese and Communist Viet Minh delegates gather at the peace conference site in Trung-Gia, north of beleaguered Hanoi. Viet Nam's premier, Ngo Dinh Diem, has warned the French that his country will not be bound by any decisions made by the conferees. Diem says that he considers the talks of "little value" because the Communist negotiators, who agreed to seating of the Viet Namese without recognition, have snubbed his delegates. (NEA Telephoto)

Signs Are That They Won't Miss by Far—Congress Heads Into Final Three Weeks, Aiming at July 31 Wind-Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress heads today into the scheduled final three weeks of its 1954 session with President Eisenhower reportedly prodding for stepped-up action on his program of anti-subversive measures.

Republican leaders are aiming for a July 31 adjournment. Signs are that if they don't make it, they shouldn't miss by more than a week or two.

One of the fields where action has lagged is in the President's suggestions for legislation to deal with domestic subversives. Sen. Ferguson of Michigan, chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee, said in an interview yesterday Eisenhower applied some neat at last week's conference with Capitol Hill leaders to get their bills moving.

No major bill in the field has been approved by both branches of Congress. The Senate last year approved a measure to give immunity from federal prosecution to some witnesses in exchange for their testimony. The House this year approved use of wiretap information as court evidence in national security cases.

Neither of these bills is in the form the administration asked. The House has also okayed bills to provide the death penalty for espionage and sabotage laws, and to increase penalties for harboring fugitives from justice.

There has been committee or subcommittee action on bills aimed at penalizing "Communist-infiltrated" organizations and giving the President authority in an emergency to bar suspected spies and Communists from defense plants.

Elsewhere on Capitol Hill, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee hoped to complete action today in a foreign aid authorization of about $2,100,000,000 into which it has tentatively written provisions (1) putting Congress on record again as opposing Red China's entry into the United Nations and (2) shutting off arms aid to France and Italy unless they approve a proposed European defense army or an acceptable alternative.

Other major legislation up for action this week, either in the House or Senate or in key committees, includes:

Atomic Energy Act—The Senate probably will open debate tomorrow on a bill embodying Eisenhower's recommendations for changes in the basic atomic law to permit giving certain weapons information to this nation's allies and to allow private firms to handle fissionable materials as a means of stimulating development of peacetime atomic power.

Taxes—Senate and House representatives plan to start Wednesday the big job of adjusting differences in the two versions of the administration's tax revision bill.

Debt limit—Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey may renew this week his pleading for an increase in the legal debt ceiling from 275 to 290 billion dollars. The House okayed the boost last year, but the Senate Finance Committee balked and there is still powerful opposition there.

Farm—Chairman Aiken (R-Vt.) said he hopes the Senate Agriculture Committee can report formally to the Senate early this week a general farm bill calling for another year of high rigid price supports on basic crops.

Surviving him are his widow, 318 West Seventh, and one son, Robert Trader Fletcher, Columbus, Miss., two granddaughters, Ann and Emily Jane Fletcher, two sisters, Mrs. Frank Adams and Miss Nelle Fletcher, Kansas City, and several nieces and nephews.

The body was taken to the McLaughlin Funeral Chapel, where funeral services will be at 10 a. m. Tuesday, July 13, the Rev. Ralph Emerson Hurd, pastor of The Epworth Methodist Church, to officiate. Dr. Fletcher was a member of the First Methodist Church and the Rev. Hurd is to conduct the services due the absence of the Rev. Roy Bowers, First Methodist pastor, who is now recovering from an operation in California, performed while he was on vacation.

Mrs. C. D. Demand will play organ music.

Pallbearers at the services will be J. T. Abney, Sherman Whipright, Ed. McLaughlin, Dr. E. D. Hober, Irvin Raut and Fred Young. Burial will be in Crown Hill Cemetery.

Dr. Fletcher graduated from the Philadelphia Dental College in March, 1922, and came to Sedalia and began practice of his profession. He continued following it until 1924 when he retired and lived for many years in his country home at Georgetown.

Churchill Decides To Delay Decision On Admitting Reds

Tells House of Commons That His Country's Policy Toward Red China Remains the Same; It Must First Prove Peaceful Intentions

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill said today his government does "not consider that this is the moment" to raise the matter of Communist China's admission to the United Nations.

The Prime Minister told the House of Commons that Britain's policy toward Red China remains the same—she favors seating Red China in the U. N. after the Peiping regime has proved it is willing to forswear aggression and abide by international agreements.

Churchill also said his Washington conference with President Eisenhower was the most agreeable and fruitful in his experience.

Churchill opened by saying that he was "deeply concerned at the lack of information" Britain possessed about the hydrogen bomb. He concluded by saying that widespread acceptance of the idea of peaceful coexistence of Communist and non-Communist worlds might with the passage of years solve problems and "avert the mass destruction of the human race."

The Prime Minister reminded France that the European Defense Community was a French idea. He said Britain and the United States were convinced this still remains the best plan for getting West German rearmament. In firm tones, he declared:

"It would indeed be a tragedy if this opportunity were lost of bringing Germany back into the European family and at the same time of recruiting a German national army."

"To me, the bulk of whose life has been spent in war, or preparing for war, with Germany, it seemed little less than madness to leave that active and virile nation with no choice but to raise an independent, national army and to reject association with her and the Western world."

"I thought I ought to have a personal meeting with President Eisenhower at the first convenient opportunity," the 79-year-old Prime Minister told the House of Commons.

Murmurs of approval echoed through the House.

Churchill said a speech about the hydrogen bomb by Sterling Cole, chairman of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy, on Feb. 17 had astonished him.

Rep. W. Sterling Cole (R-N.Y.), chairman of the Joint Congressional Atomic Energy Committee, said in Chicago on that day that a thermonuclear test in the Marshall Islands in 1952 "completely obliterated the test island in the Eniwetok Atoll."

"It tore a cavity in the floor of the ocean—a crater measuring a full mile in diameter and 175 feet in depth at its lowest point. Within this crater one could place 140 structures the size of our nation's capital."

Referring to Cole's speech, Churchill said:

"I was astounded by all that he said."

Will Continue Search for Man Who Informed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens said today the Army will "never give up" its search for the officer who allegedly provided Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) a summary of a classified FBI document.

McCarthy produced the 24 page document at the McCarthy-Army Gen. Brownell during a television appearance. Brownell said that whoever gave McCarthy the document violated the law but the officer has not yet been identified. He said the search was continuing.

Met by newsmen at Washington National Airport, Stevens said he expects to remain secretary of the Army "so long as the President wants me." He said also that "as far as I know," John G. Adams will remain in Army counsel.

Stevens and Adams were key figures in the dispute with McCarthy and members of his Senate Investigations subcommittee staff.

Chamber Will Conduct Information Booth Again at State Fair

The Chamber of Commerce will again have charge of the information booth at the Missouri State Fair with two women at the booth, one supplied by the Chamber of Commerce and one by the Missouri State Fair.

Mrs. Leona Peabody and Mrs. Mrs. L. E. Warren will alternate at the booth to assist with housing, give out information about the fair, the grounds and answer the various inquiries that are made there.

Afterwards at the zoo I was positive these monkeys had some psychic understanding of my mental processes and were giving me the wry grin while I tried to out-stare them.

Many Countries Offer Assistance—Relief Supplies Are Pouring Into Stricken Austria, Germany for Homeless in Flood

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Relief supplies for thousands of homeless victims of central Europe's worst flood in centuries poured into stricken Austria and Germany today.

Holland, Sweden, Switzerland and the Saar were the first to offer bedding, food and clothes to thousands of families made homeless by the raging Danube and a dozen tributaries. Their five-day rampage has claimed at least 24 lives on both sides of the Iron Curtain.

The aid began to arrive as rescue workers struggled to reach submerged Austrian and German towns where inhabitants were still stranded on rooftops and upper floors. More than 3,000 American soldiers have been taking part in the rescue work.

Border Fight Poses Another UN Problem

JERUSALEM (P)—Another flare-up on the tense Israel-Egypt border costing the lives of six Egyptian soldiers and one Israeli posed a new problem today for the U.N. Palestine armistice commission.

Reports of the latest incident came yesterday as the commission issued a statement blaming both Arabs and Jews for the June 30-July 2 shooting around the no-man's land dividing Jerusalem.

The commission is scheduled to continue its discussion on that fray today.

Both Egyptian and Israeli sources accused each other of setting off the new skirmish which broke out Saturday night near Gaza.

Egypt accused Israel of armed aggression at the frontier post of Deir Elbalah and demanded an emergency meeting of the armistice group. A detailed charge made in Cairo said besides the six Egyptians killed, four were missing and two wounded.

An Israeli spokesman said one Israeli soldier was killed and two wounded in an Egyptian attack on an Israeli patrol near the Gaza strip.

Commenting on the earlier shooting in Jerusalem in which nine persons were killed and 52 wounded, Maj. Gen. Vagn Bennike, Danish chief of the armistice commission, said both Israel and Jordan had violated their cease-fire. But he added it was impossible to tell who fired the first shot.

Actress Plans More Bullfight Lessons Shortly

JUAREZ, Mexico (P)—In the language of the bull ring, former Broadway model and actress Bette Ford has much courage, bravery and beauty—but her ability is undetermined.

The 23-year-old, curvaceous Miss Ford headed back to Mexico City today for more training to correct a trait that led her under the horns and hoofs of a vicious Mexican bull yesterday and to four narrow escapes.

Bette, from McKeesport, Pa., made her formal bullfighting debut in the Juarez Plaza de Toros just across the Rio Grande from El Paso, Tex.

She received accolades from the severe audience for her courage, and to a bullfighting fan that's everything.

But because of what Bette called "The luck of the Irish," she drew two stubborn, hard-to-work bulls which offered her nothing but trouble and little or no opportunity to show the results of her year's training.

Her training now will concentrate on correcting a tendency to crook her arm in the intricate cape work, instead of holding it extended. That crook led to the bull getting too close to her four times yesterday and she narrowly escaped being gored.

But after each incident, she bounced back to the fight, a display which won from the crowd a thundering ovation and a call for a "vuelta," a ceremonial and triumphant tour of the ring.

Russian Champions Arabs for Oil Wealth

WASHINGTON (P)—Asst. Secretary of State Henry A. Byroade reports Russia is now openly championing the Arabs in their quarrel with Israel so she can get to her "primary goal"—control of the world's richest oil fields.

Byroade cited stepped-up Soviet propaganda and diplomatic moves in telling the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, in testimony made public yesterday, that "there are dangers of losing the Middle East" to communism.

American policy, he said, is to help the Middle Eastern countries maintain their independence and to provide "evenhanded treatment between the two sides."

Big Firms Seek Stake In A-Power

FIRST ATOMIC POWER PLANT, shown here in a preliminary artist's sketch, is to be built at Shippingport, Pa., as a joint project of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission and Duquesne Light Co.

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Hard, cash profits are now in sight from the production of electricity by atomic energy.

The sudden realization of this fact by the big U. S. firms seeking a stake in the revolutionary new power for homes and industry has among them for the fat prizes awaiting those getting in on the ground floor.

The unanimous belief that atomic power for homes and industry has turned the corner from an intriguing theory to a field ripe for exploitation was the keynote of a meeting here of The Atomic Industrial Forum, Inc.

That belief has further backing in the Atomic Energy Commission's report to Congress that atomic development has reached the stage where more public funds should be spent "on constructive peacetime uses of the atom."

The forum is a non-profit organization created to be a sort of clearing house for information on atomic power developments. Its membership includes the biggest corporations in America.

Interviews with representatives from General Electric, Detroit, Edison, Westinghouse, Duquesne Light Co., U. S. Steel and other companies reveal general agreement on the following details of nuclear power plants:

Public fear, plus some slight real danger that an accident could spread radiation pollution in the neighborhood of a plant, will govern their location within an area. Atomic plants can't be located too far from the customers because the cost of moving the electricity along power lines is very high. So the first private A-plants, at least, will have to be located outside of large cities, removed from large population areas.

Old Locomotive Makes Farewell Journey

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (P)—Eight carloads of railroad fans took a sentimental journey yesterday — a farewell trip aboard the nation's last camelback locomotive in active service.

Old No. 74, the 41-year-old Jersey Central engine, chugged her way down to the north Jersey shore for the excursion, sponsored by the north Jersey chapter of the National Railway Historical Society.

What lies ahead for No. 74? The Jersey Central says it hasn't decided. Perhaps she'll wind up at the railroad's boneyard at Elizabethport. Then again, she may have a brighter future if sent to the Baltimore & Ohio's transportation museum at Baltimore.

A camelback gets its name because the cab is in front of the firebox and astride the boiler. Old No. 74 made her last business run in April, taking commuters from Cranford to Jersey City.

plant are no greater than those of an ordinary power plant, contrary to general belief, so that locating them near a river or large body of water is not a consideration.

As far as physical appearance goes they are likely to be one of three general types. The section of the plant which contains the nuclear reactor will have to be shielded by a giant concrete box, it's possible for this to be above ground, or buried for additional shielding.

It's also possible that some radial protective structure like the giant sphere which covers GE's submarine reactor at West Milton, N. Y., might be built over the heart of the plant.

Wastes which result from the burning of the original atomic fuel could be a very valuable by-product of the plant. They could be purified for re-use in the plant. They could be turned into a number of isotopes for medical and research purposes.

A by-product called caesium, for instance, is an excellent substitute for X-ray.

Some experts claim that the wastes from an A-plant could be used for the heating of large buildings in the area. Closer to a practical idea is their use in the preserving of foods. Atomic food preserving industries could likely might grow up around atomic power plants.

No matter what is done with the wastes, they do have to be taken care of in some elaborate manner to protect the area. As a result it's probable that every atomic power plant will be surrounded by clusters of subsidiary

Ignores Appendicitis Attack, Makes Jump

FT. BRAGG, N.C. (P)—Angel got his wings the hard way.

Pfc. Angel O. Gomez suffered an appendicitis attack just before his fifth and final jump as a paratrooper trainee here.

He concealed his condition and made the jump anyway. On the way down, he passed out. Medics in the drop zone disengaged his parachute and rushed him to the hospital.

Gomez had to sit up in bed to have his wings pinned on by Col. Nathaniel R. Hoskot, who said: "What you did wasn't very smart, but... it showed a lot of guts and pride in the unit."

Twins Finish Third Hunger Strike Week

LOS ANGELES (P)—The Flying Finn twins rounded out three weeks of a jail hunger strike today in a "rather advanced state of starvation" as their attorney prepared to seek their release on bail.

"Some intermittent mental confusion" on their part was reported also yesterday by Dr. M. R. King, superintendent of the California Medical Facility on Terminal Island, where they are imprisoned.

Despite increasing weakness, 40-year-old George and Charles Finn were able to attend Catholic mass in the facility's chapel.

Dr. King said they spend most of their time in bed. He issued orders that the twins, veterans of World War II and the Berlin airlift, be fed glucose or saline solution intravenously if they became unconscious.

The twins' hunger strike is to protest a one-year jail sentence and the federal government's seizure of a war surplus transport plane they had bought. They were convicted in federal court of interfering with a federal officer after they handcuffed U. S. Atty. Laughlin Waters in what they called a citizens' arrest. They accused Waters of violating their civil rights by withholding possession of the plane.

The Finns bought the craft from a school district near Bakersfield. The government later seized the plane, declaring it had been given to the school district for educational use and could not be sold for commercial purposes.

Atty. Bernard B. Cohen said he would ask the federal Circuit Court of Appeals today to release the twins on bail pending an appeal.

Script Writers Prepare Strike Against Networks

HOLLYWOOD (P)—A union of television writers is preparing a strike against the three major networks in a script pay dispute.

The Television Writers of America, official bargaining agent for all network TV writers, said yesterday that live network TV shows would be first affected but that the strike was expected to spread to radio as well.

Ben Starr, western region TWA director, said members were placed on a 24-hour standby basis and would be notified by telegram when to start picketing.

Contract negotiations between the TWA and the NBC, CBS and ABC networks broke off in New York Friday, and union spokesmen said the strike seemed almost certain. TWA members have authorized their executive board to call a strike.

Starr said the union asks $15 for a half-hour commercial show, $390 for a half-hour sustaining show and $425 for a half-hour sustaining adaptation.

He said the networks offer $425 for a half-hour original commercial program, $345 for a half-hour original sustaining show and $215 for a half-hour sustaining adaptation.

Grill Man Who Said He Saw Rape-Murder

MIAMI, Fla. — Miami detectives returned Walter Lee Yow here from Georgia for further questioning today about his story that he saw 7-year-old Judith Ann Roberts raped and murdered last Tuesday.

Detectives Charles Sapp and I. J. Whitman said the 44-year-old former convict's story was vague and full of discrepancies but consistent enough to warrant bringing him back. He was arrested in Marietta, Ga., Saturday for vagrancy.

Yow told officers he was with the man who stole Judith Ann, daughter of a Baltimore lawyer and labor leader, from her bed in the home of her grandparents.

Sapp said Yow related at first that he saw his companion rape the child, then smash her head with a rock, but later insisted he waited in the car some distance away while the other man took the girl into a wooded area off fashionable Bayshore Drive.

Then Yow declared he made up the story to get out of Georgia and back to Florida because he had been told that Georgia officers would "bash in his head" if he fell into their hands.

Georgia officers said the paunchy Yow, who described himself as a Cherokee Indian, had a long record of convictions, including assault on a female, and had been in a North Carolina hospital for criminally insane.

Fish by Tons Saved Below Lake Taneycomo Area

JEFFERSON CITY — They caught fish by the ton on White River below Lake Taneycomo over the weekend.

The Missouri Conservation Commission reported today a special fish rescue team salvaged between 20 and 25 tons of fish from Friday morning until last night. The job was expected to be finished by noon today.

Construction of a retaining wall to protect the powerhouse generating plant from waters backed up by Bull Shoals Reservoir forced the power company to shut off the flow of water from Lake Taneycomo completely.

That would have left thousands of fish stranded. But A. G. Orris, hatchery supervisor at Springfield, organized a crew of five commission employees, hired seven local men to help and used a half dozen volunteers to save the fish.

The tailrace below the dam netted 15 tons of channel catfish up to 15 pounds in weight, a ton and a half of flathead cats weighing up to 40 pounds and 3½ tons of bass and crappie, including some lunkers. Only four carp were found.

The rescued fish were transported to a location where there still was plenty of water.

Alderman's Bribe Case Is Considered

BULLETIN

ST. LOUIS — The St. Louis Board of Aldermen voted 23-0 today to suspend Alderman Ben Oliver without pay until his guilt or innocence on bribe solicitation charges is established.

ST. LOUIS — The St. Louis Board of Aldermen meets in special session today to further consider the case of Ben Oliver, Democratic Negro alderman twice indicted for soliciting bribes to insure passage of bills.

The call for the meeting came as a surprise Friday after the aldermen had taken no action in the case Wednesday and then recessed until Oct. 1 after ordering its investigating committee to expand the scope of its inquiry into charges that aldermen had solicited bribes.

The board, by a two-thirds vote of its 28 members, could suspend or expel Oliver.

The second circuit court grand jury indictment against Oliver was returned after the board had recessed.

Oliver is charged in one indictment with soliciting a $500 bribe to support a bill for the sale of city property to the National Lightning Protection Co. Oliver and Ziegenbalg are charged in another indictment with soliciting a $250 bribe to obtain passage of a bill authorizing the Stamer Service Co. to install a power line on the riverfront.

An arrest order was issued last week for State Rep. John W. Green, Democratic Negro of St. Louis, but he was still reported out of town.

Russians Fail To Stop Future H-Bomb Tests

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. — Russia failed today in an effort to have the United Nations call a halt to future U. S. atomic and hydrogen bomb tests in the Marshall Islands.

The issue came to a vote in the six-nation petitions committee of the U. N. Trusteeship Council. A Soviet proposal calling on the United States to desist from such tests received no support except that of the Russian representative.

Britain, France and Belgium voted against it and the two other members — India and Syria — abstained.

The committee also failed to approve either of the other two proposals before it dealing with the bomb test.

Says Prolonged Strike Would Create Crisis In US Health, Safety

WASHINGTON — A presidential fact-finding board formally reported today that a prolonged strike by workers in atomic plants at Oak Ridge, Tenn., and Paducah, Ky., would create "a state of crisis" affecting the health and safety of the nation.

The report outs the government in technical position to turn to the courts and seek an antistrike order if CIO Gas, Coke, and Chemical Workers should renew a strike which they called off last week after the Atomic Energy Commission agreed to make a study of housing and other factors involved in the controversy.

Is Requested To Referee Money Battle

JEFFERSON CITY — The Missouri Supreme Court was asked today to referee a money battle between the Kansas City Board of Police Commissioners and the City Council.

The board said it wasn't given nearly enough money for the 1954-55 fiscal year's operations of the police department. The mandamus suit filed by the board boiled down to a request that the Supreme Court decide what revenue of the city actually goes into the general fund.

It asked quick action by the court because without its full appropriation the board "will be unable to perform the duties imposed upon it by law and its officers and employees will go unpaid; the police department of a great city will be helpless."

That was the reason, the petition said, that the case was brought directly to the state's highest court instead of starting it in Circuit Court. Speed is needed, the petition said.

Here's the situation: By Missouri law, the state-controlled Kansas City police department must be appropriated one-sixth of the city's general revenue. In January this year, the board estimated the fiscal year's money needs would amount to $4,028,726.

But the city manager, L. P. Coughlin, said that was more than he would recommend to the council and more than the board could expect under the one-sixth law.

He figured that the city's revenue would be $33,236,395 for the fiscal year but only $19,650,441 of that was in general funds. The council later set the police board appropriation at $3,551,354.

But the board called that an "arbitrary determination" and declared the general fund revenues should be figured at more than $25 million.

The appropriation "is far below the amounts actually needed by the police department during each of the last several years and is a sum needed during the fiscal year" from May 1, 1954 through April 30, 1955, the board said.

Sarnar was the third witness, but the first builder, to take the Fifth Amendment in the course of the hearings. The other two were ousted FHA officials, Clyde L. Powell, former assistant commissioner in charge of rental housing projects, and Andrew Frost, former assistant state director of the FHA in New Mexico.

Liquid Used For Rockets Is Big Aid

By STEVEN V. DAVID
(For Sam Dawson)

NEW YORK (AP) — A clear, colorless liquid which the Germans used to power their wartime rockets promises to make life easier and healthier for you.

The liquid is a chemical called hydrazine. Full-scale production has been under way in this country only a year, but already it is being used in the manufacture of drugs, photographic chemicals, insecticides, plant growth regulators and many other things.

Hydrazine was discovered more than 60 years ago in Germany. Largely because of its difficult preparation and unsuspected applications, nothing much was done about it until World War II, when the Nazis used it to fuel their rockets.

Hydrazine is one of the most highly reactive of the inorganic chemicals. It also is a very powerful and concentrated source of chemical energy.

Development of its military uses is continuing in this country. But Matholin Corp., owned jointly by Mathieson Chemical Corp. and Olin Industries, Inc., biggest producer of hydrazine in the United States, points out that its nonmilitary uses are growing all the time.

This doesn't mean that huge quantities are being made. "A little of it goes a long way," comments a Matholin official. "But it is sufficiently different in what it will do that we expect it to become an important basic chemical."

In the drug field, Matholin says, hydrazine derivatives show promise in treating tuberculosis, high blood pressure and urinary tract infections. Hydrazine is being employed in the preparation of hormones, antihistamines, antibiotics and certain vitamins and sulfa drugs.

And a myriad of other uses has been discovered.

Dinnertime Quarrel Causes Dead Diplomat

LONDON (AP) — A Dominican diplomat was dead today and his adversary in a dinnertime quarrel and gun fight was in a hospital with a stomach wound.

The two men, described as formerly "great friends," shot it out Saturday night in the Dominican consulate, not far from Buckingham Palace.

The dead man was the Dominican Embassy's first secretary, Don Luis Bernardino. His wounded opponent was Capt. Antonio de la Mazas Valquez, the embassy air attaché.

An embassy spokesman said the two men were dining together at the consulate building when they became involved in a violent argument. The shooting followed. The spokesman said he did not know what caused the dispute.

Fall Fashions—

Slouchy Comfort Is Keynote At New York Styles Opening

Editor's Note—Fashions for the fall went on review in New York today, the start of a week-long schedule of unveilings before the fashion press of the nation. Here's an expert report on what the new styles will mean to the well-dressed American woman. It will be followed by daily stories in this newspaper until the press preview ends Friday.

By DOROTHY ROE

NEW YORK (AP) — It's going to be smart to be slouchy next fall, the international fashion press learned today with the opening of the New York wholesale collections of fall styles.

Comfort also is given a large play by American designers, who are introducing the bloused silhouette after a season in which the tight midriff and Princess lines made women suffer for the sake of fashion.

The newest dresses shown by leading designers have an easy, loose look above the belt, retaining the slim skirt for daytime. However, skillful use of pleats and flares has been made in some skirts, allowing room to move while preserving a slender appearance.

The bloused-back dress showed up in the Paris spring collections but was not generally adopted by American designers until now. It suggests a return to the casual way of dressing that most American women love, and also makes it possible to hide a few extra bulges around the middle.

The tight-midriff Empire line is still present in many collections, but a choice is now offered, with the casually comfortable look the newest and therefore the smartest in the lineup.

Suits for fall over a wide variety of jacket styles, with the slim skirt still decreed for daytime wear and hemlines about the same or occasionally a trifle shorter than those of spring and summer. One leading suit designer shows the longer jacket as the highlight of his collection, but the "Blouson" jacket seems a favorite. This is a bloused effect ending in a belt at the waist, similar to the Eisenhower jacket of World War II. Boxy and barrel-shaped jackets rounded at the top and snugged in around the hips also are prominent and popular.

The fur-trimmed suit and even the suit with reversible jacket lined in fur is seen frequently, often as a part of the popular costume suit, which consists of a smart dress covered by a tailored jacket.

The costume is the top favorite in practically every collection, shown either as dress and jacket, dress and matching full-length coat or suit with coordinated blouse. This is the highly versatile break-fast-to-dinner outfit which permits a woman to go from office to cocktail party or dinner perfectly dressed for the occasion when she removes her jacket.

Handsome fabrics make new headlines for fall, with much emphasis on tweeds for any hour.

For Ambulance Service Ph 8

There are tweed dress-and-jacket combinations in which the dress emerges with open neckline and brief sleeves, ready for any after-5 occasion. There are feather-weight silk-and-wool tweeds suitable for both suits and dresses. The combination of satin and tweed is a new note for fall, highly effective and apparently slated for wide acceptance.

Black and charcoal gray remain tops for basic costumes, but the combination of a sherry brown and black is newer, and the fad color of the season is purple.

The soft black crepe dress, which most women feel is a necessity in any wardrobe, gains new stature this season, and will be seen in quantity in shops across the country. It is done in either silk or rayon, simple, skillfully draped, to be dressed up or down with jewelry and accessories.

The top coat silhouette of the season is the loose, rounded line which is drawn in slightly at the hemline, in something resembling a barrel shape. This usually is a few inches shorter than the skirt hemline.

There is a rounded, smooth look to both suits and coats this season. Shoulders are natural, and the dropped shoulder line is important. Garments are loose above the waist, drawn in below either at hipline or hemline.

Necklines take a dramatic play, with big collars on coats and suits, open décolletages on dresses. The sailor collar is shown in many versions on coats, suits and occasionally on dresses.

Biggest news for the college crowd is the Bermuda skirt, a knee-length affair worn over Bermuda shorts, with long knee-length socks. This is done in plaid pleated kilt version as well as in circular cut tweeds, open in front to reveal the shorts beneath.

Even hats follow the casual line in the early collections, with the slouch-brim felt leading the field and the flapper cloche a close runner-up.

Australian Minister Sees Fighting Ended

WASHINGTON (AP) — Australia's Foreign Minister Richard G. Casey said today there's a good chance of an "acceptable" end to the Indo-China fighting because Red China needs to turn its full attention to internal economic problems.

However, the Communists won't stop their expansion until the free world provides "the resistance and the evidence to them that expansion is not going to be an easy business," Casey said in a copyrighted interview in the magazine U.S. News and World Report.

The Australian leader, a strong supporter of a proposed Southeast Asian treaty organization defense against Red advances, said the time is near when the free world powers of the area must get to work on a united front.

Estimates State Share of 1955 Foreign Aid

The Missouri State Chamber of Commerce today estimated that the administration's foreign aid program for 1955 will cost Missouri taxpayers $90,682,400. Of this total the State Chamber said $24,274,900 will be for economic aid and $66,407,500 for military aid.

The State Chamber also pointed out that all foreign aid programs since July 1, 1947, through last June 30 cost Missouri taxpayers $1,562,220,000 of which $1,007,290,000 was for economic aid and $554,930,000 for military aid.

These figures were based on calculations showing that Missouri taxpayers bear 2.63 per cent of all federal taxes. Missouri's share, therefore, of the $3,448,000,000 requested for these programs for 1955 is $90,682,400. The same percentage figure applied to the $59,400,000,000 total for all aid programs spent since 1945 reveals the figure of $1,562,220,000 as Missouri's share.

Suggesting that Congress take a new look at foreign aid expenditures, the State Chamber declared that a reappraisal of the needs and purposes of our foreign aid programs is called for in view of substantial improvements in the economies of the countries we have been aiding. It added that political and military events have altered the foreign aid problem.

35th Infantry Division Goes To Field Training Saturday

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The 35th Infantry Division, composed of Missouri and Kansas National Guard units, will be off to Camp McCoy, Wis., next Saturday for annual summer field training.

Its more than 9,000 officers and men will drop their civilian pursuits for two weeks of outdoor on-the-job soldier training.

The bulk of the division will move Saturday, but in the early days of this week small advance detachments of the units will go to Camp McCoy to prepare for the reception of the troops. To move the division from its various home stations will require 12 special trains and 16 motor convoys.

The 35th, now officially known as the Santa Fe—front the design of its shoulder patch — is the field force of guardsmen from the two states. It is commanded by Maj. Gen. John C. McLaughlin, Sedalia, Mo., who has been the commanding general since its reactivation after World War II.

In going to training this summer, the division will have a reputation to uphold. Last year, the Santa Fe men outranked six other National Guard divisions in the Fifth Army Area in training efficiency.

This will be the division's first tour at Camp McCoy which is about 200 miles southeast of Camp Ripley, Minn., where it has trained for the past three summers.

It also will mark the first time in two years that the division has been together for training. The 135th Antiaircraft Battalion from northwest and north-central Kansas will train for the first week at Camp McCoy and then move to Camp Haven for firing at aerial targets. Also back with the division this summer will be the 135th Heavy Tank Battalion from southwest Missouri, which trained at Ft. Knox, Ky., last summer.

The only break in training for division-wide ceremonies will be a parade Saturday morning, July 24, for Visitors Day. At this time major awards will be presented.

Co. E, 140th Inf. of Jackson, Mo., will receive the General McLaughlin trophy, an award presented for the first time this year by the commanding general to the outstanding rifle company in the division. At the same time the coveted Eisenhower trophies will be presented to Battery B, 154th Field Artillery, Marysville, Kan., and the Ambulance Company of the 205th Medical Battalion, Kansas City.

Merry-Go-Round
Brazilian Resentment Against
'Yanqui' May Lead to Trouble

By Drew Pearson
WASHINGTON—One thing to be learned from our headaches in Guatemala is that the seeds of Communism are seldom planted in a hurry. They take time to sprout and are always nourished by a wave of anti-Americanism.
In Guatemala, the Reds seeds actually began sprouting back in the days of President Jorge Ubico's harsh dictatorship, and the tragedy is that his nephew and secretary, Col. Carlos Castillo Armas, is now one of the new would-be dictators, currently rowing with the other colonels for supreme power. If he shoves the other colonels aside it's a safe prediction there will be more trouble in Guatemala, and eventually Communism will boomerang back again.

An entirely different, though dangerous, situation is brewing in a country which long has been the best friend of the U.S.A.—Brazil. And now is the time for us to do something about it—not later, as in Guatemala.

Brazil is not threatened by Communism or revolt. But it's been swept by a wave of anti-Americanism, thanks largely to one thing—coffee.

And if it's true that anti-Americanism usually precedes Communism, then now is the time to mend our fences in Brazil. Furthermore, it isn't healthy to have a country which has gone down the line for us in crisis after crisis suddenly become bitterly sore.

Here is the situation:
No Brazilian Price Supports
Brazilians have long known the U.S.A. as a country with big farm price supports, where the farmer is guaranteed a reasonable price despite a slump. Brazil up until a few months ago did not have such supports. Its coffee prices went up and down, with the coffee grower sometimes using his coffee to pave roads because it was such a glut on the market.

Last winter there was a frost in the great coffee-growing state of Parana. Coffee bushes were killed, some farmers went bankrupt, luckier farmers made a killing. Coffee growers in other countries were especially lucky—because the price of coffee zoomed. American housewives had to pay more, but Brazil, which suffered the frost, got all the blame.

U. S. newspaper editorials condemning Brazil naturally are read in Brazil. Speeches by congressmen criticizing Brazil have been published widely there. And they all add up to just one thing—resentment against the United States by a country which has been our best friend.

Today there's a development which may make things worse. Some U. S. coffee importers are boycotting Brazilian coffee for African coffee. Brazilian sales have dropped alarmingly. This will mean only one thing: depression. And depression is the surest breeder of Communism. If the latter ever gets started in the biggest country of Latin America, the U.S.A. will really be out of luck.

Here is some breakfast coffee information you may not know about: For about 75 years a hot trade war has raged between colonial Asia-Africa and Latin America. . . . This dates back to 1876 when an Englishman smuggled the seeds of 17 rubber trees out of Brazil to Asia. Thus began the rubber empire of the Malays and Indonesia. . . . somewhat the same thing happened with quinine, chocolate, coffee, tobacco. All were developed in Latin America, except tobacco; but, taking advantage of slave labor in Asia-Africa, big European exploiters moved to develop those areas. . . . That slave labor has not revolted, which is one reason for Communist success in Asia, one reason why Indo-China is falling so rapidly. . . . The social revolution came earlier in Latin America. Wages, though still not high, were much higher than the African - coolie slave labor of the European colonies. So Africa and Asia flourished in the race to grow tropical products—except for coffee. In Latin America, and especially Brazil, coffee remained king. . . . Today we might as well kiss off Southeast Asia as any steady supplier of the quinine, tin, rubber we fought to get back from the Japanese after Pearl Harbor. . . . Arab restlessness in North Africa will soon put that area in the same uncertain boat. Also it's a long way from these areas in case of war, and the atomic submarine is going to make wartime shipping almost impossible. . . . So it will pay us not to forget our good neighbors in Latin America, even if frost sometimes increases their prices. They are close at hand and dependable—unless we let depression and Communism get a foothold.

Things you may not have known about a good neighbor: In three wars Brazil has come to the aid of the U.S.A. When we fought Spain over Cuba, Brazil was the only Latin country coming to our side. She had just taken delivery on two new cruisers in London, and though they had not even been in Brazilian waters, they were ordered put at the disposal of the U.S. Navy. . . . Six days after World War I was declared, Brazil came in too, immediately amalgamated her entire fleet with the U.S. fleet. . . . World War II could not have been won in the same length of time had not Brazil given us key bases on the "hump"—the part of Brazil that sticks out nearest Africa. In those days, submarines were sinking U. S. cargoes with tragic regularity, and the airlift across Brazil to Africa was vital. We couldn't have got along without it. . . . U.S. bases on foreign soil were new and at first resented. But Brazil was the first to set a friendly precedent. . . . One Brazilian division tenaciously fought its way up the Italian peninsula during World War II. . . . The same Brazilian leaders who cooperated during the war—President Vargas and Oswaldo Aranha—are back in power today. They are our best friends, but are getting kicked in the pants politically because of the row over coffee and Africa.

Euclid and Photography
Photography was discovered in 1839, almost simultaneously by Daguerre and Talbot, two men working independently of each other. Their work, however, was the culmination of research carried out for centuries, the theory being known to Euclid in 300 B. C.

First U. S. Cows
First cows in the United States were brought over to the Jamestown colony in 1611, but those arriving at Plymouth in 1624 really marked the beginning of the American dairy industry.

Peter Edson's Column--
Red-Guatemala War Turned Into a Comedy of Errors

By Peter Edson
WASHINGTON—It would make a better story if it could be reported that the success of the Guatemala revolution which threw out the Communists was the result of some cloak-and-dagger work by American operatives dropped in by parachute to mastermind the rebels' drive on the capital.

Communist propaganda may still try to put over the tale that the Arbenz government was overthrown by a plot cooked up in Washington.

In the interests of truth, however, it must be reported that the moves which Washington did plan didn't work out as expected at all. In this respect, the Guatemalan affair was just another Latin-American comedy-of-errors war.

Furthermore, communications between Washington and Guatemala broke down completely in the shooting stages of the revolution. The Communist government in Guatemala City stopped all airplane flights and censored all cables and long distance phone calls. No diplomatic pouches came to Washington during the last week in June and presumably no couriers got through in the other direction.

That left U.S. Ambassador John E. Peurifoy in Guatemala pretty much on his own. What-ever grand strategy may have been worked out was his. It was a dish to his capable liking.

His success seems to have been due to being Johnny-on-the-job at all times and in knowing how and where to get hold of the right people on both sides at the correct moment, when they wanted to deal.

There was no lack of desire on the part of Washington to have the Communist government of President Arbenz kicked out. Straight diplomacy was tried at the Caracas conference. It didn't work too well and reacted against the best U.S. interests.

Then came the incident of the big arms shipment from Poland and Czechoslovakia to Guatemala. The intelligence service in this was pretty good. It spotted the shipment, and traced all the agents. The only trouble was that for a time, the wrong ship was tailed.

That apparently enabled the 1900-ton, $10 million shipment of arms to get through, and to be unloaded at Puerto Barrios.

Washington officials got considerably balled up over that. They thought they should have been able to stop the shipment and so keep the Communists weak.

That was their first big mistake. Then they desperately airlifted arms shipments to Honduras and Nicaragua to build up defenses against what they thought would be a Communist push clear to the Panama Canal.

But they couldn't have been more wrong. Letting that Communist arms shipment go through to the Guatemalans was the best thing that ever happened.

It worked out like this. Up to the time of that arms shipment, the Guatemalan army had been more or less loyal to the Arbenz regime. The army leaders hadn't approved of everything he did to communize the country. But they didn't try to block him.

When the Communist arms came in, however, the army leaders began to wake up. They didn't particularly need these arms. They hadn't ordered them. They began to wonder what El Presidente—who used to be an army officer himself—was going to do with them.

The only thing they could figure was that he intended to arm the Communist labor unions and the agricultural workers, and overthrow the army. That was when Col. Carlos Castillo Armas started his revolution.

Then the Guatemalan air force defected—all half dozen pilots—taking both planes with them. That was important. When they started strafing the capital, it really threw the fear of God into the Communist government.

Still, when President Arbenz abdicated and turned the government over to the first military junta under Col. Carlos Enrique Diaz, the experts in Washington who were supposed to be masterminding the operation couldn't understand what the pressure was.

Col. Castillo Armas was still miles away. And there was no fighting at all near Guatemala City. Just a big scare.

But that was all that was necessary. Communist officials started seeking diplomatic sanctuary in the Mexican embassy. And the Communist beachhead in Guatemala is apparently busted.

'Monopoly' Averted

WASHINGTON — Skipper Humphrey, 12-year old son of Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D., Minn.), has just averted embarrassing his father politically and also getting himself in trouble with the antitrust division for establishing a combination in restraint of trade.

Skipper and his two pals, Joe and Hope Liebersohn, publish a weekly paper, The Coquelin (street) News, which sells for one cent a copy. Small ads cost two cents and larger ones three cents. Some time ago the News made an agreement with one of its competitors, the Coquelin Sun, dividing up their neighborhood not to raid each other's territory.

An editorial in the Coquelin News has now disclosed that "the Sun just broke their agreement by getting subscribers in our area. By that example you can tell what kind of management they have. . . . Some of their news are very old. One news item appeared in the Coquelin News four papers ago. In fact most of their news items wouldn't be considered newsworthy in the Coquelin News. And the way a lot of their items are worded, they sound like the parents way of talking. This editorial is just the way the staff feels."

Fortunately, the Coquelin Sun is suspending operations for the summer season. This will make prosecution for operating a cartel impossible, and Senator Humphrey won't be accused of fostering monopolies during the coming political campaign.

Hazardous Journey

The World Today—
Relies on Congress Record

(By James Marlow)
WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower says he feels pretty good about the way Congress, almost evenly divided among Democrats and Republicans, has treated his program. The full treatment won't be known until Congress winds up its work, perhaps at the end of this month.

Eisenhower wants the voters in the November congressional elections to judge his Republican administration by the kind of program Congress enacts.

Here is the record to date:

Passed by both House and Senate and now law:
American participation in the St. Lawrence seaway; extension of the Reciprocal Trade Act for one year; a defense pact with South Korea; creation of an Air Force academy; extension of major excise tax rates and cutting of others; providing two billion dollars for highway construction; and increasing the borrowing power of the Commodity Credit Corp.

Passed by both houses but with differences which require compromise before final passage which seems assured in some form:

A general overhaul of the tax laws and a housing act.

The Senate gave Eisenhower most of what he wanted on housing: authority to build 35,000 public units a year for four years; continuing government-surety loans on homes; and use of one billion dollars for slum clearance. The House, which had acted ahead of the Senate, wanted no part of the 35,000 public housing units. Whether the House will yield now and go along with the Senate is not known.

Passed by one house and therefore not law unless the other also approves:

The 3½-billion-dollar foreign aid bill; the farm bill; the wire-tapping bill; and the social security bill.

The House has passed the foreign aid bill. The Senate hasn't voted yet. But it seems pretty sure Eisenhower will get a sizable chunk of the 3½ billion dollars he asked.

Eisenhower won a victory, not yet complete, when the House approved the farm bill with recognition of the principle that there should be a sliding scale — 82½ per cent of parity — on farm price supports for basic products. Supports have been at 90 per cent for years. It's uncertain whether the Senate, when it votes, will go along.

The White House wanted a law permitting use of wire-tapped information in trials of subversives. The House voted for such a bill, in modified form. The Senate may not.

The House pleased Eisenhower by approving a bill to widen the social security program, bringing under its coverage up to 10 million more people. The Senate seems likely to go along.

What Eisenhower asked for and hasn't got so far:

Reinsurance on private health insurance; statehood for Hawaii; revision of the Taft-Hartley Act; a constitutional amendment permitting 18-year-olds to vote; and revision of the Atomic Energy Act to permit this government to give all more atomic information.

The Democrats, by teaming up, messed up Eisenhower on Hawaii and Taft-Hartley. In the Senate they worked in statehood for Alaska as well as Hawaii. The House wanted statehood for Hawaii only. Probable result: statehood for neither.

The Democrats didn't like the administration's proposed changes in Taft-Hartley and managed to get them sent to the cooler for this year.

Eisenhower won a big victory, by a narrow squeak and vigorous effort, in getting the Senate to block the Bricker amendment. Sen. Bricker (R-O.) and others wanted a constitutional amendment limiting the scope of treaties with other countries.

Woman Wants Someone
To Remove Crashed
Airplane From Farm

ROCKY MOUNT, Va. — There's an airplane on Mrs. Mary Law's farm property here and Mrs. Law sure does wish its owner would come and take it somewhere else.

Trouble is, Mrs. Law doesn't know who owns it. Neither does the Civil Aeronautics Administration, which has investigated.

The plane has been in a field on Mrs. Law's farm since early Friday afternoon, when it made a forced landing, flipped over and was damaged. A man, a woman and a child stepped unhurt from the craft. The man told Mrs. Law he was going to nearby Martinsville to see what could be done about moving the plane. He and the two others left.

Mrs. Law hasn't seen him since. Three men came to the farm Friday night to "look over the situation." Mrs. Laws says, but they left and have not returned. Meanwhile, the CAA has run up a blind alley trying to identify the plane and its pilot.

Mrs. Law doesn't care who owns it, though. She just wants somebody to come and take it away.

The Mighty MILO
By Phillips Rogers

THE STORY: Fred Anspach, employed in a supermarket, meets a wrestler named Milo. Fred becomes an eager wrestling pupil. Fred's father, boasting about his son at his lodge meeting, gets involved in a bet with the father of another wrestler. So a match is arranged.

IX
PA nodded the way he does when he's not quite sure about something but pretends he is, and I gave him the other barrel. "Who have you got lined up to wrestle Milo?"

I laid it out on fair, thinking up arguments as I went along. Suppose I threw Jake too quickly, and the Odd Fellows would be disappointed, expecting a longer bout? Like in a regular show, whether boxing or wrestling the smart promoter wets the appetite, so to speak, for the big number, which would be me and Jake Stumpfig. Milo would do the wetting, which he could, the way he sweats, and being practically in the laps of the customers.

Suffice it to say that Jake Stumpfig dug up a five-foot-eleven, 247-pound character out of the Turnverein for Milo to wrestle, and he practically sneered, saying how good this fellow was, because he'd trained him himself.

After I told Milo the details he was so excited he could hardly wait. Just thinking about it made him jump up and down like a rubber ball. He was so confident that he didn't even give a passing thought as to how good this Herman Glutz might be, but I did. Also, I knew that Jake Stumpfig was no sinecure, so I went over to the Turners' gym to watch his class work out.

When I got there, he was working on the mat with some kid, but he stops right away and shouts to me, "Hello, Freddie. On a scouting exhibition?"

I came right back. "Yes, Jackie, I am, but not on my own account, as I don't anticipate much trouble. As manager for Milo, though, I feel it is my duty to see this Glutz person work out."

It was easy to see that calling him "Jackie" had stung him, but all he did was turn his head and shout, "Herman, a fellow here wants to meet you."

HONEST, when this Herman Glutz walks into the gym from the locker room, I could have been knocked over with a feather. He was Milo all over again, except that there was more of him. "Herman, meet Freddie Anspach," Jake said, and foolishly I held out my hand.

I stayed conscious until, suddenly, my hand became painless. With rare presence of mind, in spite of my right hand hanging limp, I tried to size up Herman Glutz while Jake cracked, "Herman is a natural-born wrestler, Freddie."

"He should be," I came right back, "seeing that you are teaching him." A kind of a left-handed compliment, at which Jake laughed nastily.

"Me teach Herman?" he said. "I wish I was good enough. No, I am Herman's pupil, and you would never believe how much I've improved from what he has taught me."

Herman Glutz was a likeable fellow, not at all like Jake. Herman had a big, hearty laugh that showed a lot of gold-filled teeth, and his blue eyes seemed to get lost in wrinkles. Outside of the fact that Herman had longer legs, and a square head with short sandy-colored hair, instead of an egg-shaped head that was shaved, he and Milo were so much alike it wasn't funny. Both men had necks that were thicker than their heads; both had fat-looking arms with no biceps showing. Herman's arms were longer, and ended in the same kind of hamlike hands that had the strength of a visor. His belly was as big as Milo's, although it didn't look so funny because his legs were longer.

Some inner sense warned me that Milo was in for real trouble and my suspicions were confirmed when I noticed something else. Herman hadn't begun to work out yet, but the sweat was streaming down just like it did on Milo.

Herman smiled again. "Me rassle," he said, and I thought of the fate that was bringing him into Milo's life for his first bout in America. Frankly, I was worried, and I became more so as I watched Jake and Herman work out together. Jake did some of the same stunts that I did for Milo, like jumping up and down on Herman's belly, both while Herman lay on the mat and while he bridged.

I was so worried about Milo that I clean forgot about myself and Pa's $50 until Jake began showing off what he could do on his own, with some nice holds that he couldn't lay on Herman, because of the way he was sweating. I finally left the Turners' gym with plenty of food for thought to grit my teeth on.

WHEN I told Milo my worst fears he was oblivious to them. "Trow Milo? No is possible," he said, and began to ask me if he could invite a few of the Greek waiters at the place where he worked, as he wanted them to watch him wrestle.

I didn't see why he couldn't as he wasn't getting paid, but when I asked Pa, he took a serious view of the situation, which only got worked out when I said that otherwise we'd call the whole thing off, which I would have preferred, as I was taking a dim view of our chances.

The fatal night arrived, as such things do. Since I practically never ate at home any more, there was no trouble for me with Ma, but Pa was so jittery that Ma smelled a mouse and thought he was trying to get out to a stag smoker, like he'd done once before and she found out about after. He must have taken quite a talking to, because he was white and pallid when he met Milo and me.

Accidentally Kills
Family When She Takes Own Life

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — Mrs. Jean Mann, who wanted to die to "do one thing for my children," planned it carefully.

She tucked her two children into bed, opened their bedroom window, placed a fan by their bedside, closed the doors leading into the room and sealed them with towels.

Then she turned on the gas burners in the kitchen and while she waited for death wrote an eight-page suicide note in which she declared "I was not meant to be a wife and mother." The note spoke of the need of a happy home for the children.

Yesterday, officers broke into the home and found Mrs. Mann, a 26-year-old cosmetics clerk, slumped dead over the kitchen table.

In the bedroom, the children were dead too — Frances, 6, and Steven, 5.

Coroner Clyde Kissinger said Mrs. Mann made one mistake in her careful planning. The open bedroom window created a draft for the fan to suck gas fumes from the kitchen and across the sleeping children.

Mrs. Mann's husband, Paul, 24, a hospital orderly, was in Ft. McClellan, Ala., for a two-week National Guard encampment.

Paraguay President
Is Unopposed Victor

ASUNCION, Paraguay — Gen. Alfredo Stroessner, commander of Paraguay's armed forces, won hands down in yesterday's presidential election. He was unopposed.

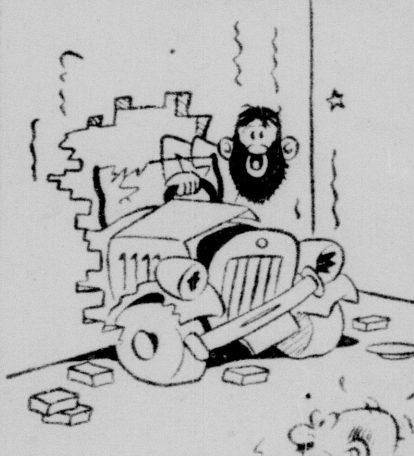

Stroessner, candidate of the Colorado party, Paraguay's only legal political group, takes office Aug. 15 to fill the unexpired term of fellow party member Federico Chaves, whom he toppled in a revolt last May. The term runs until February 1958.

Rain Just a Fake

LOS ANGELES — Southern California has been having a heat wave, so three families were really startled when an apparent cloudburst hit their houses yesterday.

The half-hour torrent poured down fire-place chimneys and soaked floors and rugs in the Philip Kenmore, David J. Manns and M. P. Marinos homes. Then city employees stopped the geyser shooting from a big water main that had burst in the Silver Lake district, ripping a deep opening in a parkway.

Hot Weather Means Special Farm Methods

It can get too hot for good growth of some vegetable crops and heat may effect them in different ways. Lack of soil moisture is often associated with the effects of high temperatures. This is the third season in a row that we have had experienced a dry period. This usually does not occur but is getting a definite start quickly this year.

Tomatoes

This crop may respond to high temperatures at least three ways. One, some of the fruit may show blossom end rot. The tomato has a dry, brown, dead area on the opposite of the stem. The quality of the fruit is reduced and frequently the tomatoes in this condition are a complete loss.

Too, fruit set may be retarded. When the temperature at night goes above 70 degrees F. it is not likely that many fruit will set. High daytime temperatures above 90 degrees F. are also believed to be detrimental to fruit setting.

Three, leaf roll will often appear when high temperatures occur. The leaves turn upward and inward, so more of the under side of the leaf is visible than the top side.

Leaves maintain their color and apparently function almost normally. Plants continue to produce and the harvest does not appear to be materially affected.

In any of these three situations, there isn't much you can do except provide the plant with plenty of moisture. This will help some.

Surly Top

Curly top causes the plant to become severely stunted. Leaves lose their dark green color and take on a faded green appearance. Only a few plants will be noticed in a planting. They will bear little fruit, if any. It is truly a disease and not the result of high temperatures.

After plants once show symptoms of this disease, there is no cure for it. It is believed that aphids carry this virus disease. It is common in desert areas and apparently is brought in by this carrier. It is not easily spread from one plant to another, so, removing plants will be of no particular value.

Hogs Need Shade

Hogs need plenty of shade and water. Trees furnish the best shade. But often trees at lot located in hog pastures so it becomes necessary to furnish some type of artificial shade. A very satisfactory and inexpensive shade may be constructed. Place posts in the ground and build a framework on top of these with poles, scrap lumber, snow fence or woven wire.

This framework can then be covered with from to three feet of straw, old hay or weeds. A shade 20 by 40 feet requires three rows of five foot posts each, set ten feet apart in each direction. The posts should extend four to five feet above the ground to allow free circulation of air. This type shade will handle from 50 to 75 hogs depending upon size.

A hog can go without food for considerable length of time before starving. But to be without water for a short time in hot weather would be fatal. Automatic waterers are the most satisfactory method of furnishing drinking water. These may be connected to a permanent water supply, such as from a deep well system or pond, or they may be attached to tanks or barrels.

One automatic waterer cup should be provided for each 20 pigs. If hogs are watered by hand in troughs, they need watering three times a day during hot weather. Troughs need to be constructed so that the pigs cannot get in them. They should be heavy enough so that the pigs cannot turn them over. A fattening hog will consume from one to two gallons of water a day.

Feed and water need to be located close to the shade and in the shade if possible.

Pull White Flags

Gib Owens called the office the other day to get some help in getting white flags removed from fields which had already been sprayed for hoppers.

"Our regular pilot, Johnny Bright, doesn't have much trouble," Gib said, "but we have other planes at Warrensburg, Higginsville and Columbia. One of them will be sent in every few days to help us catch up. Those pilots, being strangers, are likely to spray a field a second time if the flag is left up."

The white flags are put up in corn and bean fields so pilots spraying grasshoppers know which fields are to be sprayed. When flags are left up in the fields a lot of confusion can result.

On Saturday noon Mr. Owens reported 6,200 acres sprayed and 852 acres (about a day's work) ahead.

Patrick Reports Plans "Overall" Spray Job

Edwin Patrick of La Monte is one of the first to report plans for a complete "overall" spraying job on his farm.

Patrick had 55 acres of corn on his 120 acre farm sprayed with an airplane. All the rest, except a small oat field and a six-acre pasture, have been sprayed with a ground outfit.

Ed said all the hoppers have moved out of the oat field but he plans to plow it soon anyway. He was in the office about the six-acre pasture where he has concentrated over 20 head of cattle and over 100 hogs.

He was questioning whether to spray this pasture with toxaphene and leave the stock on it. The rest of the farm has been sprayed nearly a week so I suggested he divide the pasture with an electric fence and spray one half of it. After a week he can put the cattle back in a field that was sprayed a week ago so they will have been off two weeks and then go ahead and spray the other half of the pasture.

Yancey and Wimer Have Reserve Pasture

I was talking to Bill Yancey of La Monte about dividing a pasture while he was spraying for hoppers. He said he and his landlady, Karl Wimer, had saved a 35-acre pasture back to use while spraying the rest of the farm.

Bill was telling too about what good results a neighbor, Herman Reichkopf, had had with aerial spraying. He said the ground was covered with dead hoppers.

Wimer and Yancey and a neighbor, Ernest Thompson, have recently bought a sprayer and plan a fairly complete spraying job.

Beans Start Growing After Spraying

J. W. Greer, route 1, Marshall has also been spraying for hopper control. He hasn't seen so many dead hoppers, he reports, but the number still in the field have been cut very much.

Mr. Greer said he wondered about his beans not growing but the hoppers didn't seem to be doing any damage. Then he found they were eating all the new growth. Since he has sprayed them, the beans have started to grow again.

The same is true of his clover field since he sprayed it.

Housing Pullets Well Will Aid Egg Output

Housing your pullets early in a good building with proper equipment will go a long way toward getting top fall egg production.

To help you do this there are three Missouri College of Agriculture laying house plans available. They are the well-known 24 by 32 feet multi-unit laying house designed for 300 heavy birds or 400 light birds. The plan is for an open front, strawloft house. This type house lends itself well to additions of extra units to boost layer capacity.

Another good plan is the 30 by 86 feet open front, strawloft type. This house is divided into 30 by 40 foot pens. The house will handle about 700 heavy birds and 850 of the lighter breeds. It can also be built longer if desired.

Still another plan is the 48-foot deep house. When built 48 by 60 feet, it will house 1,000 light birds. To handle this number of heavy birds, another ten feet is needed or, another 70 feet in length.

All these house plans carry provisions for a feed room. And if an egg room is included, the length can be increased to accommodate it. The 48-foot wide laying house is ventilated by use of fans.

Each of these plans, as well as a circular outlining steps in remodeling old laying houses, is available from your local county agent.

Simple Care Will Preserve Home Equipment

Every family should make household equipment last as long as possible. Daily care and needed repair of equipment will determine the length of its usefulness.

To make the needed repair every home needs a home tool kit. This kit should include the ice pick, flat file, round file, whetstone and oil can.

A hand iron will sometimes stick to clothing if too much starch has been used. A small amount of salt in the starch will help to keep the iron from sticking.

The sole of the iron may be cleaned by rubbing it in salt sprinkled on waxed paper or on paraffin while hot. Polish with a dry cloth.

Disconnect the iron by removing the plug from wall outlet—never by removing the plug at the iron.

Keep heating pads in a dry place. It is made of small low-temperature heating wire placed in the asbestos blanket. Bending or folding the pad will eventually break the heating element.

Never put pins through the heating pad as it may short circuit the heating coils or even break the pad.

The electric percolator should be washed occasionally with water to which has been added one tablespoon of vinegar or soda to six cups of water and allow ten minutes. This will remove any stale odors.

On an electric stove keep the 45' away from the wires of an open unit—salt, soda, soap and sugar.

A good cleaner for home use can be made by shaving scraps of soap into fine flakes and dissolve in boiling water and add enough Spanish whitening to make a paste.

Dairy Farmers Boost Herd Size; Number Of Herds Decreases

In trying to produce milk more efficiently, dairy farmers in this county have been increasing the size of their herds. Extension specialists of the Department of Agriculture report a trend toward larger and fewer herds. They point out that herds of more than ten cows produce about two-thirds of the nation's milk supply. The small, one- or two-cow herds, which a few years back made up half the total number of herds, produce less than 10 per cent of the milk. The last census shows that between 1944 and 1949 the number of farms selling dairy products went down 19 per cent, yet the change in total milk production is less than 1 per cent.

Safety Cultivation Will Bring Happiness

Cultivate safety and harvest happiness, suggests Miss Amy Kelly, state agent of the Agricultural Extension Service and member of the National Safety Council. The tragic deaths, disabilities, suffering and losses from farm accidents can be avoided. Most of the remedies to prevent accidents are simple, inexpensive and obvious. The main thing is for each person to watch out for the hazards and work out ways to correct the situation that might cause an accident.

There is a safe way to do every farm or household job — and an unsafe way — you make the choice. Every family member has a part in farm safety if it involves everyday habits of living, working and playing. Order is said to be heaven's first law. Also it is a powerful factor in safety.

Here are some things that help prevent farm accidents: a simple rack for pitchforks; steps and railings in repair and steps free from articles; a box on casters makes top pick-up interesting and removes a fall hazard; driveways from farm to highway free from obstructions such as shrubs, trees, or weeds.

Soil Meetings Will Be Held All Next Week

A series of meetings on a new method of interpreting soil tests has been scheduled for the week of July 19-23.

Actually two changes are being made in the way soil needs are figured. One is a new method of interpreting lime and potash needs and the other is a simplified method of figuring the nitrogen and phosphate needed.

Features of the meeting are a colored motion picture entitled "Making The Most Of A Miracle" and a snack of iced tea and cookies to be served following the meeting. The home and community committee of the Pettis County Farm Bureau will have charge of the iced tea, while each one attending will be asked to bring enough cookies, cake, or doughnuts for his family.

All meetings will start at 8 p. m. The schedule follows:

Longwood, Monday, July 19, Methodist Church; Smithton, Tuesday, July 20, high school; Houstonia, Wednesday, July 21, high school; Green Ridge, Thursday, July 22, high school; Sedalia, Friday, July 23, Fifth Street Methodist Church.

Farm Safety Course, Conference at MU Is Set for Sept. 28

A short course and conference on farm safety is to be held during the day September 28, 1954, at the University of Missouri, Columbia.

The program, as tentatively planned, includes interpretations of 1953 farm and home accidents statistics and safety programs of several different organizations in the morning. In the afternoon the program includes a tractor-tipping demonstration, a fire prevention demonstration and business meeting of the Missouri Rural Safety Council.

Anyone interested in rural safety is urged to attend.

Check Dairy Cows; May Need to Cull One

Now is a good time to check your dairy cows. Many dairymen are finding that they have a number of cows which might be culled, and a lot of them are doing the job. They're taking into consideration the fact that an efficient dairy herd must be big enough to make good use of equipment — barn, space and labor. But it must also be made up of cows which pay their way. Dairy specialists believe the dairyman is better off without a marginal cow, even though she can't be replaced with a better one at the moment. With the changing cost-price situation, cows which paid a short time back may be unprofitable now.

Separation of Siamese Twins Proves Fatal

LONG BEACH, N. Y. — A baby boy, separated from his undeveloped Siamese twin in an attempt to save his life, died today about 12 hours after the emergency operation.

A hospital spokesman said an autopsy was planned for later in the day to determine the cause of death.

Efforts to save the life of the 8-pound, 15-ounce baby at Long Beach Memorial Hospital were reported by Hospital Administrator William A. Kozma.

The child was attached at the breast bone to a withered, undeveloped twin. Kozma said no vital organ appeared to link the two and only a small blood vessel joined their circulation systems. The undeveloped twin weighed less than a pound, he said.

The twins were born in a normal delivery late Saturday night to Mrs. Julia Seitz, 25, of Cedarhurst, Long Island. Kozma said. About 16 hours later the delicate operation was started.

Kozma said the staff had been able to find only one other similar case in medical history.

Calls Air Defense Pilots More Effective

KANSAS CITY — Pilots in the Air Defense Command are "far more effective" than they were a year ago, Maj. Gen. Jarred V. Crabb said on his arrival here yesterday.

Crabb has been chief of staff of the Air Defense Command and will succeed Maj. Gen. Delmar Spivey as commander of the Central Air Force Base July 18.

Crabb said he could not tell how effective the pilots are in interceptions of suspected aircraft for security reasons.

Little Paper Disk Provides Defense Against Germ Warfare

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP)—The latest and most valuable gadget the military has for countering germ warfare attack is a flimsy disc of paperlike substance, slightly larger than a silver dollar.

Under a microscope and other common testing apparatus of a laboratory, the presence of a dangerously high bacterial count, together with the type of bacteria, can be spotted in a matter of hours.

Until development of this method a gelatin plate-culture method was needed, a process requiring almost four days.

About 300 filters can be packed in a small, pocket-size container. The former detection system required a case of glass plates as big as a heavy desk for a corresponding amount of equipment.

NL Favorite To Win Annual All-Star Clash

CLEVELAND — Two 11-hour changes in the American League pitching staff have caused the odds on the already favored National League to soar to 8-5 today for tomorrow's annual All-Star Game.

Nobody here could recall when one league ruled such a prohibitive favorite over the other, even during the years when the power-packed American League captured four straight from 1946 through 1949.

Now, on the eve of the 21st clash, the shoe is on the other foot. Not only does the National own a four-game winning streak but it has most of the long-ball hitters.

Until New York's Allie Reynolds and Cleveland's Mike Garcia were declared physically unfit, it appeared the American League's seemingly superior pitching might offset the National's numerous home run hitters.

Reynolds begged off because of a pulled groin muscle and Garcia was excused because of a ruptured blood vessel in a finger. In their places, Manager Casey Stengel chose Sandy Consuegra, crafty Chicago White Sox right-hander, and Irv Noren, currently hot Yankee outfielder, Noren probably will see action only as a pinch hitter.

Both managers — Stengel and rookie Walter Alston — were mum concerning their pitchers but the expected crowd of 65,000 in Cleveland's Municipal Stadium probably was due to see a battle of right-handers — at least during the first three innings.

Based on the starting lineups, which are predominantly right-handed, and by process of elimination, the field narrowed down to Phil Rizzuto of the Philadelphia Phillies and Bob Keegan of the Chicago White Sox as the opposing hurlers. Both will be well rested by Tuesday. Keegan has done no pitching since Friday, nor has Rizzuto except for a brief mopup job Sunday.

The only other well rested pitchers are the Yankees' Whitey Ford and the New York Giants' Johnny Antonelli. Milwaukee's Jim Wilson, who replaced the injured Harvey Haddix, does not figure to start. Ford and Antonelli are left-handers.

Roberts, although sporting a subpar (for him) 11-4 record this season, is a veteran All-Star competitor. He was the starting pitcher in three of the last four games all winning ones for the National League. Keegan (12-3), a sophomore, is enjoying his first outstanding season in the majors.

Stengel, the all-winning World Series wonder, who has yet to triumph in four All-Star games as manager, may upset the odds and start Ford against the National League lineup, which is packed with left-handed power as represented by Stan Musial, Duke Snider and Ted Kluszewski. But Ford (6-1) has had a spotty season. Dean Stone of Washington, his only other available southpaw, is strictly a gamble.

All Stengel's right-handers, with the exception of Keegan, worked either Saturday night or yesterday. Baltimore's Bob Turley, Cleveland's Bob Lemon and the White Sox' Virgil Trucks pitched yesterday. Washington's Bob Porterfield and Consuegra were on the mound Saturday.

Alston appears in a better way for pitching. Should Roberts start, his second pitcher, in all likelihood, will be Antonelli, whose 13-2 record is the best in either league. After Antonelli, the Brooklyn pilot can come back with Marv Grissom, the Giants' ace relief right-hander, or southpaw Warren Spahn. Milwaukee's veteran southpaw, who has three All-Star game performances under his belt, Spahn pitched Saturday.

Right-hander Gene Conley of Milwaukee and Carl Erskine of Brooklyn, who saw action yesterday, don't figure to be called on unless absolutely needed. Wilson also pitched yesterday.

Roberts, Ford Will Star All-Star Game

CLEVELAND — Robin Roberts, Philadelphia Phil's right-hander, and southpaw Whitey Ford of the New York Yankees were named today as the starting pitchers for tomorrow's 21st All-Star game.

Roberts, making his fourth start of the last five years for the National League all-star, has won 11 and lost eight this season. Ford, whose nomination was somewhat of a surprise, is making his first All-Star start. He has won seven and lost six after a poor start.

Each pitcher will work the first three innings.

Neither manager, Casey Stengel of the American League and Walter Alston of the National, gave any indication as to who would follow the starters.

"It all depends on how the game is going," they said.

The managers also announced their starting lineups and batting averages. They are, with batting averages:

Adco Blues Win From MPS, 11-2, Sunday

Sunday night Industrial League softball saw the Adco Blues rack up another victory, this time from Missouri Public Service, 11-2.

The second game, which was scheduled for 8:15 p.m. was forfeited to the DeMolays because the opponents, the National Guard team, were not able to field a complete outfit.

The Blues-Missouri Public Service contest saw the Blues take the game with little opposition, with Watson hitting a circuit blow in the fourth inning of the five-inning game.

Sterling was the winning pitcher in the encounter, and Schultz suffered the loss.

Sports Roundup— Brooklyn Must Play Delayed Milwaukee Game Wednesday

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK — Everything's happening to the Brooklyn Dodgers. Immediately after tomorrow's All-Star Game at Cleveland Manager Walter Alston's shell-shocked crew must head for Milwaukee to play off a postponed game the following night, and the club is burning out.

New Contender For Marciano May Appear

NEW YORK — Rocky Marciano's 1955 opponent may emerge from Wednesday's heavyweight match at Madison Square Garden between Hurricane Tommy Jackson of New York and Nino Valdes of Havana.

Although Jackson was an early 2-1 favorite, the price is narrowing and Valdes might even enter the ring as the favorite.

The 10-round bout will be televised by CBS.

Jackson weighed 192 1/2 at Friday's checkup and Valdes 207 pounds.

The Hurricane, 22, beaten twice in 20 pro fights, is making his second start since he was defeated by Jimmy Slade. Valdes, 29, has an eight-fight winning streak and a 30-8-2 record. The Cuban is No. 2 among the heavyweight challengers and Jackson is No. 5.

Floyd Patterson, former Olympic champ, is expected to get back on the winning path tonight against Jacques Royer, the Frenchman who upset Tiger Jones at the Garden May 14. It will be the first outing for the 19-year-old Brooklyn light heavyweight since his first loss, a disputed decision to Joey Maxim June 7.

The eight - round bout at St. Nicholas Arena in New York will be carried on Du Mont television.

Willie Troy, a fast-rising middleweight until he was stopped by Joey Giardello March 19, gets back to the wars against Tony Anthony, former Golden Gloves champion from New York, in the 10-round bout at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway tonight on ABC-TV.

Dodgers Release Two; Recall Sandy Amoros

BROOKLYN — The Brooklyn Dodgers today recalled Sandy Amoros from their Montreal farm in the International League and infielder Charley Kress.

Amoros, with the Dodgers during spring training and the early part of the season, returns to Brooklyn with a batting average of .361.

Williams was released outright to St. Paul of the American Association. Kress, brought to Brooklyn from Detroit in the Wayne B.ardi deal, goes to Rochester in the International League club wants him.

The most famous double play combination in baseball history was the Chicago Cubs' Joe Tinker, at short, Johnny Evers, at second, and Frank Chance, at first. Their deeds from 1902 to 1912 have been immortalized in prose and poetry. Kluszewski hardly is a rhyming name.

But even if their praises are not sung by poets, the deed of the Redleg three may be logged by the statisticians. With 71 games to go, the 1954 Reds need 85 more double plays to better the National League mark of 194 set by the Cincinnati clubs of 1928 and 1931. The major league record of 217 is held by the Philadelphia Athletics of 1949.

AL Race Now Into Battle Of Nerves

By ED CORRIGAN
AP Sports Writer

The American League pennant chase is developing into a war of nerves.

Cleveland Manager Al Lopez says he isn't afraid of the Chicago White Sox. . . Haven't got the pitching to last out the long season. . . More concerned with the New York Yankees. . . But the Tribe still has the better club.

Chicago Manager Paul Richards merely shrugs off last month, when his club went into first place. . . He expected it all along. . . The Pale Horse is the team to lick the Yankees, he says.

New York Manager Casey Stengel doesn't have much to say. . . He's been spending his time looking up at the other two hoping they'd eat each other.

Right now, it appears that Stengel's hopes have been coming true. Last week, the Indians swept the Sox four straight games. Had they been able to do the same in the four-game set that just ended, they might have made a run-away of the race. But the Sox won all four, finishing operations with a 3-0, 8-2 double victory yesterday.

The Yankees, who have been taking advantage of the second-division clubs, won their ninth in a row and 12th in their last 14 by slugging the Washington Senators 7-3 to climb within half a game of the Indians. The White Sox are three games back as the chase continues to tighten.

Except for the seventh inning, when Bob Grim loaded the bases with none out, the Yankees had no particular problems with the Senators. Johnny Sain came in to rescue the youngster, who got credit for his 10th success.

In other American League action, Detroit whipped Baltimore 2-1 and the Boston Red Sox won a double-header from the Philadelphia A's 18-0 and 11-1.

The National League action left the New York Giants still 5 1/2 games in front of the Brooklyn Dodgers. The Giants thumped Pittsburgh 13-7 in the first game of a double-header, but dropped the second 5-1. Brooklyn edged Philadelphia 8-7 in the first game of a twin bill but lost the second 3-1.

Cincinnati and Milwaukee split a double-header, the Redlegs taking the first 6-5 and the Braves winning the second by an identical 6-5 count. St. Louis nipped Chicago 4-3, the other National League game.

The Town and Country girls softball team journeyed to Kansas City Saturday where they competed with the Kansas City Donettes.

In Saturday night's game, the Kansas City girls won the game in the ninth inning, 12-11. Earlene Walz suffered the loss for the local girls in the Saturday night contest. Winslow, of the Donettes, was the victorious hurler.

In Sunday night's encounter, the local Town & Country girls took the game, 7-5, behind the fine pitching of Betty Jo Appleman. She gave up eight hits in taking the win. Town & Country profited mostly in the game on the walk routes and singles at the opportune moment.

The Town & Country girls will play Fulton at Center Park Wednesday night, the game scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. The Fulton team is one of the better teams in the state, and the game Wednesday night should be a real battle.

Texans Hope to Win Public Golf Tourney

DALLAS — The ponderous National Public Links Golf Tournament got down to championship business today with no outstanding favorite for the title but with Texas a good bet through sheer weight of numbers.

This state has 20 contestants and an ex-Texan, Gus Moreland of Peoria, Ill., on which to pin its hopes. And among the Texas shot-makerseyed most in championship calculations is a big policeman, Andy Sword of Dallas.

Two former champions were in the 200-man field that will be thinned down 128 today with 72 matches and 56 byes. They are Andy Szvedko of St. Louis, Pa., who won in 1939, and Stan Biel of Yonkers, N. Y., who took the crown in 1950.

The field is wide open because the defending champion isn't back. He is Ted Richards of Santa Monica, Calif., who isn't participating this year because he joined a private club, thus making himself ineligible for Publiclink play.

Tough Double Win
KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Only one medalist in the National Collegiate golf championships ever has won the national individual title the same year, reports the NCAA.

Names Host Cities For All Star Play In Little League

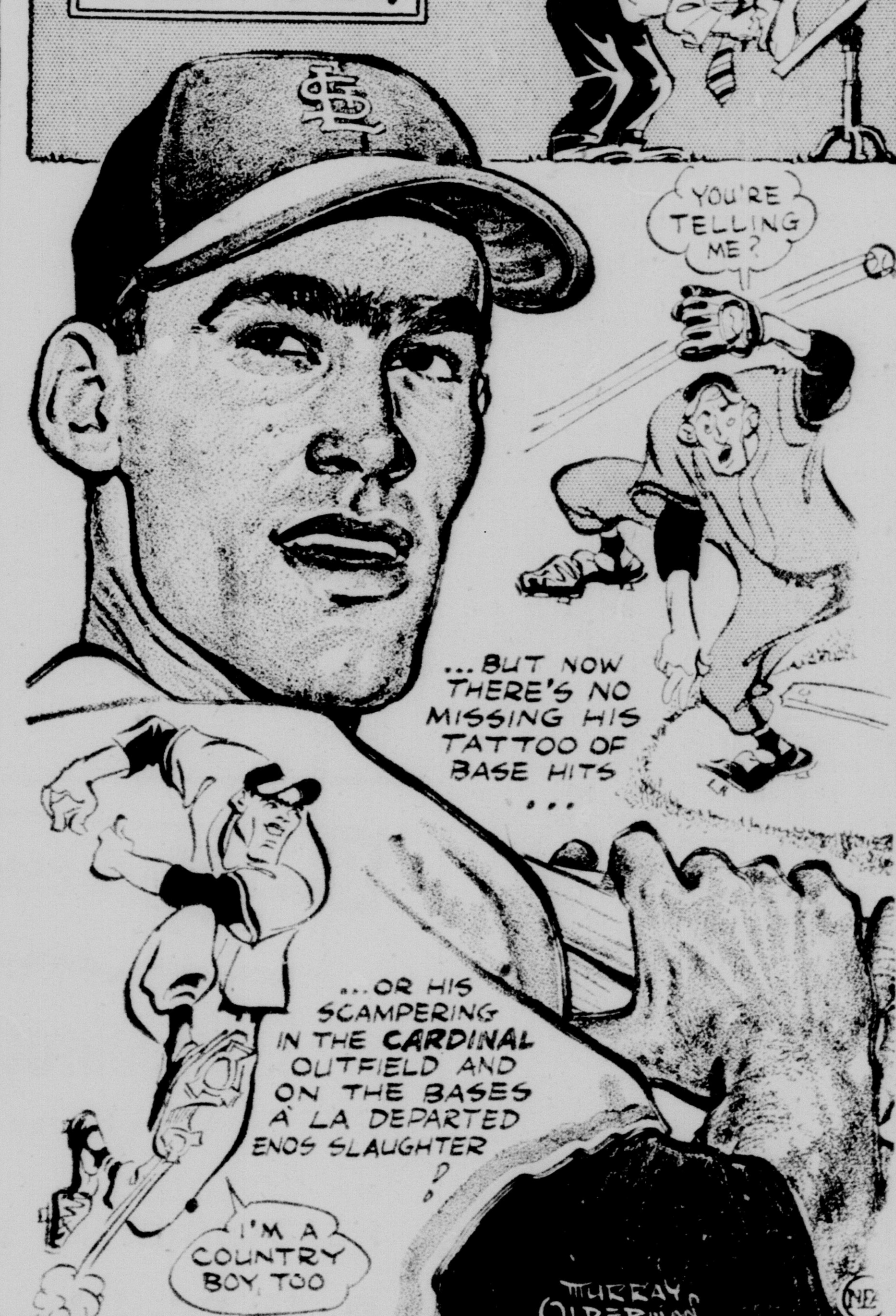

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa.—Cities in eight states will play host to all-star teams of Little League Baseball during the 1954 tournament.

Williamsport, Pa., Albany, N. Y., Salisbury, Md., Joliet, Ill., Austin, Tex., Greenville, S.C., Santa Monica, Calif., and Williamsport, Pa., were pinpointed in an announcement by President Peter J. McGovern of Little League Baseball, Inc.

Each will serve as the site of a regional tournament final during the middle weeks of August. Selection of tournament sites was made following a careful study of facilities and field conditions in each of the eight regions. Under rules governing Little League tournament play, each fully franchised league has the option of entering an all-star team in the district, or first round level competition. District winners advance to sectional play and sectional survivors become eligible for regional championships.

Winners of each regional title will qualify for participation in the Little League World Series, Aug. 24-27, at Williamsport, Pa.

Cards Actually Win Series From the Cubs

ST. LOUIS — It took half a season to do it but the St. Louis Cardinals finally won a series from the Chicago Cubs.

Rookie first baseman Joe Cunningham banged out a sixth-inning home run off Warren Hacker yesterday to break a tie score and give the Cards a 4-3 victory. The Cubs won only one game of the three-game series here but still hold a 10-5 edge on the Birds this season.

The homer was Cunningham's fifth since joining the club on June 30.

Rookie hurler Brooks Lawrence, also a recent addition by the Cards, shut the door on the Cubs by holding them to two hits in the last four innings after taking over from starter Gerry Staley.

Chicago jumped on top in the first when ex-Cardinal Steve Biko, playing for the injured Dee Fondy, doubled in a run. Fondy suffered a split lip when hit in the mouth by a thrown ball in pregame practice. He is expected to return to action Thursday after the three-day rest for the annual All-Star game.

The Cards knocked out starter Howie Pollet with a walk, single and Bill Sarni's run-scoring double in the second. Chicago came back for two in the third on a double by Randy Jackson and singles by Ralph Kiner, Hank Sauer and Walker Cooper.

St. Louis tied it in their third on a single, forecourt and back-to-back doubles by Stan Musial and Ray Jablonski.

Red Schoendienst, Cards' second baseman, went hitless again after his hitting streak was stopped at 28 consecutive games on Saturday by cub Bob Rush.

Musial, Schoendienst and Jablonski of the Cards and Jackson of the Cubs left for the All-Star game tomorrow at Cleveland after the game.

Largest Field Ever Starts Trans-Miss Golf Tournament

DENVER — The largest field in the 51-year history of the Trans-Mississippi golf tournament — 225 strong—started 36 holes of qualifying play today over the par 72 Cherry Hills course in quest of 63 championship flight berths.

Joe Conrad, the former North Texas State star recently named to the 1954 Walker Cup team, automatically draws a championship flight position to defend the title he won a year ago in Kansas City. He looms as the man to bat.

Despite the record entry and the strength of the field, rated the best in history, only Conrad and Wichita's Jim Vickers of last year's quarter-finalists are playing this time.

Vicker rates as one of the strongest contenders after losing to Conrad, 2-up, in last year's finals.

Expected to gain the ranks of 16 on Friday along with Conrad and Vickers are such golfers as Jim Jackson of Kirkwood, Mo., a Walker Cup player in 1952; Jack Munger, the Dallas veteran; Ernie Vossler and Don Schumacher, brilliant Texas stars; Rex Baxter, the national junior champion from Amarillo; Johnny Dawson, who the tourney in 1936; Jim English, the 1950 champion; Benny Castilo and Marion Hickey of North Texas state; and Jerry Cloninger, an Oregon State College student.

Qualifying play continues tomorrow with championship match play starting Wednesday. All matches will be 18 holes until the 36 hole finals next Sunday.

Rents Increase More Slowly Without Lid

MINNEAPOLIS — Contrary to popular impression, residential rents have actually gone up a little more slowly since federal rent controls ended a year ago July 31, than in the preceding postwar years under rent control, reports the family economics bureau of Northwestern National Life Insurance Company.

In spite of sharp markups in scattered individual properties, residential rental rates for the country as a whole have risen at an annual rate of only 4½ per cent in the first ten months after the end of national rent controls, and most of the rise took place before the end of 1953. During the preceding eight years since V-J Day, residential rates climbed at an average annual rate of 4½ per cent, the report says.

Building costs zoomed 47 per cent during World War II, while rents rose only 5½ per cent. In order to induce construction of needed new postwar housing space, such new housing was exempted from rent controls in 1947. Aerial ceilings on existing housing were raised from time to time during the postwar period, in recognition of mounting costs of repairs and upkeep. In 1949 Congress authorized individual states and local communities to decontrol rents if they so desired. These three factors were mainly responsible for the substantial rise in average rents which occurred during the nearly eight years from V-J Day to July 31, 1953. With the further upreep since national controls terminated, the government's Bureau of Labor Statistics residential rent index for May, 1954, stood approximately 41 per cent above V-J Day.

In the same period, the general cost of living had risen 49 per cent, food costs were up 64 per cent and building masses were up 75 per cent.

Compared with 1939, residential rents are up 48 per cent, living costs are up 94 per cent, food costs have risen 141 per cent, and building costs have increased 136 per cent, the report shows.

Car Hits Rock Bank, Driver Is Killed

HILLSBORO, Mo. —Howard A. Karcher, 42-year-old St. Louis barber, was killed yesterday when his car plowed into a rock bank on State Highway 21 five miles north of this Jefferson County town.

State police said the accident occurred when Karcher, apparently traveling at a high rate of speed, swerved to miss another car making a left turn into a side road and lost control of his auto.

FREED FROM PRISON TERM—Sam Brown, left, leaves Missouri State Prison in Jefferson City, Mo., July 10 after serving 4½ years of a six-year term on conviction of masterminding the murder of Dora Backstein, a 73-year-old widow, near Clarence, Mo., in November, 1941. He was first sentenced to a 10-year term but the sentence was later reduced to six years. He insisted through his prison term he had been framed. His son, Stanley, (right) who was 18 at the time of the woman's death, was accused of having helped one Mark Hunolt to push the aged woman into a well but a circuit court jury acquitted him. The son sat on the prison steps for an hour awaiting the release of the father. As the two walked down the steps, the elder Brown saw a news photographer and lowered his head but looked up again when the son said "look at the birdie, Dad." Stanley has been living in Springfield, Ill. (Associated Press Photo)

State Sizzles Under Record High Mercury

KANSAS CITY, Mo. —Missouri sizzled today under what may be record breaking temperatures.

Highs of between 105 and 110 are forecast for the western sections of the state. Eastern portions, the weatherman indicated, may fare a little better with highs between 100 and 105.

Joplin was the state's hot spot Sunday with 109.

Kansas City had 108 and after a low this morning of 84, the mercury had zoomed up to 98 at 10 a. m.

There is a nice cool front to the north, but the weather bureau doesn't think it will have much effect on Missouri except the extreme northern and northeast sections. The forecast for Tuesday calls for readings in the 90s in that area tomorrow, but elsewhere highs will be around 105 degrees.

Trailing Joplin and Kansas City on the high list Sunday were St. Joseph with 104, Columbia 101 and St. Louis with 99. West Plains had a relatively cool 94.

Kansas City's 108 was within two degrees of the hottest July day recorded, 110 on July 24, 1934. The all-time high for the city is 113, recorded on Aug. 24, 1936.

Temperatures in neighboring Kansas yesterday included 115 at Pittsburg and 113 at Fort Scott.

Gives Patrol Motor Theft Bureau Data

Missouri Highway Patrol Superintendent, Colonel Hugh H. Waggoner, today released figures concerning the activities of the Patrol's Motor Vehicle Theft Bureau for the first six months of 1954. He explained that Missouri statistics require the patrol to accumulate, index and disseminate information pertaining to the theft of motor vehicles as a central agency.

Colonel Waggoner said that the auto theft records show that Patrol members recovered stolen motor vehicles during this period valued in excess of $412 thousand, which represented a total of 429 vehicles. Out-of-state car thieves ran afoul of the patrol upon entering Missouri, as 132 vehicles stolen in other states were recovered by Missouri's patrolmen. In making the 429 recoveries, the patrol apprehended 346 persons as car thieves.

The use of a state-wide patrol radio network, which includes radio equipped patrol cars, supplemented by the many municipal police radio contacts; the efficient filing and recording system employed by the patrol's auto theft bureau; and the exchange of auto theft information between states, has proven a formidable foe to the auto thief.

Missouri statutes require that applications for motor vehicle certificates of title and registration be checked with motor vehicle theft records before a motor vehicle certificate of title or registration may be issued by the Director of Revenue.

During this six-month period, 68,604 searches were made in patrol auto theft records for information concerning motor vehicle thefts; 11,090 searches for stolen licenses, and more than 15,078 searches were conducted for motor vehicle licenses, motor vehicle titles and driver's and chauffeur's license information.

Lt. Stumpf Earns Squadron Officer Course Diploma

GUNTER AIR FORCE BASE, Ala.—First Lt. Charles J. Stumpf, 2422 North Woodland Drive, was recently awarded a diploma from the USAF Extension Course Institute here for completing the squadron officer correspondence course.

The course, one of the institute's general military education courses, is prepared by the resident squadron officer course of the Air Command and Staff School, Air University, and is patterned after its curriculum.

ECI also offers general courses similar to the Officer Candidate School, the Field Officer Course, and the Air War College.

The ECI series of special education courses covers such subjects as communications, transportation, finance, photography, aircraft maintenance, intelligence, and military law.

Boy, 6, Is Knocked Into River, Drowns

ST. LOUIS, Mo. —Thomas William Milton, 6, drowned in the Mississippi River yesterday when he was knocked into the water by waves from a passing launch while riding in a motorboat with his father and brother.

The accident occurred about 100 feet offshore. Waves jarred the boat, knocking the boy into the water.

The boy's father, Robert W. Milton, 30-year-old St. Louis ironworker, and another son, David, 7, were in the small outboard motorboat. There are six other children in the family.

Supply Ship Renews Search For Big Raft

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif. —A relief vessel with supplies for the five hungry and thirsty crew members of the raft Lehi renewed its search today with an assist from airplanes.

The motorless raft was sighted from a Navy plane about 35 miles southwest of Santa Cruz yesterday—but couldn't be located by the Princeton, a fishing boat with supplies aboard.

Aboard were five rank amateurs trying to drift 2,200 miles to Hawaii. They took no water or food.

They were relying upon nature in the vast Pacific to supply their needs—wind, rain or water from a solar still, and fish for food.

They got off to a poor start. Saturday they caught one salmon—then no more fish. They made one quart of water with the still.

But instead of drifting toward Hawaii, they were carried slowly southward.

Skipper Devere Baker, 38, radiod yesterday his hope that a new tow would take the Lehi far enough into the Pacific to find a current for Hawaii.

Misses Majority Vote by Little, Run-Off Needed

OKLAHOMA CITY, Mo. —Sen. Kerr (D-Okla.) failed by 9,780 votes to win a majority in Oklahoma's primary election last Tuesday, final official tabulations showed.

Figures released by the state Election Board yesterday confirmed Kerr would have to face former Gov. Roy J. Turner in the July 27 runoff primary for the Democratic nomination for the Senate.

Although Kerr out-pollled Turner 238,543 to 205,241, seven other candidates had sufficient strength to prevent a majority.

William O. Coe, Oklahoma City attorney, had a margin of 2,746 over Raymond Gary, president pro tempore of the state Senate, in the Democratic race for governor. They will fight it out in the runoff to see which goes against Reuben Sparks, attorney and the Republican nominee, in the Nov. 2 general election.

Coe led Gary 159,122 to 136,376. Fourteen other candidates, including Mrs. Johnston Murray, wife of the present governor—were far behind. An Oklahoma governor is barred by law from serving two consecutive terms.

Washingtonian Takes Top Prize at Rodeo

CAMDENTON, Mo., Mo. —Bill Linderman of Walla Walla, Wash., took the top prize for all-around cowboy of the 5-day J-Bar-H Rodeo which ended here yesterday.

Rodeo officials said attendance for the five days totaled 53,212.

Linderman is the present holder of the world all-around cowboy title. He took first in the saddle bronc riding here.

Police Hold Man Who Admits Killing Woman

BATTLE CREEK, Mich. —Police said a man, found in the apartment building where a Battle Creek mother was shot yesterday, told them he killed her because she was "the biggest Communist in the world."

Robert Roscoe, 28, an unemployed door-to-door shoe salesman, was held by police. They said he told them "I'm an FBI agent and I've been after her for a long time."

Police said Roscoe was found in a hallway near the room where the body of Mrs. Beulah Pontius, 40, the mother of six children, was lying.

Roscoe, police said, told of also planning to kill the woman's husband, Chester, 42, because "they were both Communists."

Only minutes before the shooting, the husband had left for work at a Battle Creek bakery.

Police said the Pontius family had no connections with communism.

FBI area headquarters in Detroit said it knew of no agent by that name.

Roscoe's mother, Mrs. Pearl Roscoe, informed police her son had been obsessed for the past year with a fear of the dangers of communism.

Two Are Badly Hurt In Shooting Affray

ST. LOUIS, Mo. —A 42-year-old man and his ex-wife were both in critical condition at City Hospital last night after a shooting affray in a small, crowded restaurant.

Police said Earl Arnold shot his wife, Vina, 36, in the left side of the head as she stood in the kitchen of the Union Restaurant, which she operated.

Arnold then shot himself above the right eye.

Two employees and 13 customers were in the restaurant in west St. Louis when the shootings occurred yesterday. The couple had been divorced about three months ago.

Bob Thomas in Hollywood—

Burl Ives Has Special Love, The Art of Cooking a Goat

By HUBBARD KEAVY (For Bob Thomas)

HOLLYWOOD — All I know about cooking goat I owe to Burl Ives. This piece concerns baking goat meat, which is fair warning to those with conventional palates. Turn now to the classified section if you think Ives and I may offend your delicate stomach.

This ballad singer is a great eater, all 260 pounds of him. He's a great chef too. If you cook a hunk of goat—or chevon as the fancy cook books call it—you will be disadvantaged because you won't have Ives' ballads between basting. If he should turn up at your house, which is doubtful because he is busy playing the sheriff in "East of Eden," don't ask him to sing "Blue Tail Fly." He's beginning to help it. What you do is get a leg (we had four) of chevon from the nearest goater. Punch three or four holes in same and insert a clove of garlic in each. Put the meat in a roasting pan and sprinkle soy and worcestershire over it. Then pour on a generous amount of melted butter. Shake on some freshly ground pepper. Have the oven preheated, at 300 degrees, and bake about three hours. Baste every 15 minutes.

Then mix one cup of papaya nectar, one cup of pineapple juice and the juice of one lemon. On the home stretch, during the last 20 minutes whirl the oven to 500 degrees and baste every two minutes.

utes with the nectar-juice mixture. Baste like mad. Dip this great marinade out of the pan and pour it over the meat. This almost-frenzied basting will exhaust the chef. Give him a cold beer and let a lackey remove the meat and serve it.

If you cannot get chevon, try this recipe with lamb.

Ives has eaten in the finest places all over the world, but the taste thrill he remembers is that supplied by a Persian melon in Arabia. He gets poetic about it.

"I had played for some arabs and in thanks they sent a melon—but what a melon. It was raised in the king's private garden, fertilized by camel dung 500 years old. What farming! To eat that melon was a great sensation. It touched every membrane that is capable of responding to taste. The thrill could be compared only to the vibrations of a song."

Plane Scares Seoul

SEOUL — An alert was sounded over the Seoul area for 20 minutes shortly after noon today when a Communist aircraft was reported spotted over the demilitarized zone. The 5th Air Force said the plane turned around and headed north.

The 56-year-old flier denied he had anything to do with the arms shipment. He said he was cleared for travel by the State Department last Friday.

Iran May Reject USSR Protest on Pact Join

TEHRAN, Iran — Iran is reported preparing to reject a Russian protest against Iranian membership in the Western defense network on grounds it does not menace Soviet security.

Commenting on last week's Soviet note warning that Iran's participation in a Western defense bloc would violate a 27-year-old Iranian-Soviet friendship pact, a highly placed source said last night:

"We have not yet taken part in any bloc which might threaten the security of the Soviet Union, and we do not see any reason why we cannot take part in any kind of regional defense for maintaining our security."

Iran has been mentioned frequently as a prospective member of the Turkey-Pakistan mutual defense alliance.

OFFERS ADVICE — Donald Quarles, assistant secretary of defense in charge of research and production, says Russia would be foolish to start a war. Following a tour of western research installations, he said the U. S. is now working on 8000 separate weapon-improving projects, and expects to lead the weapons race as long as we do not become complacent.
